

evolution

The Instability of Arab Republics and the Rise and Fall of the Muslim Brotherhood

Talk and Panel Discussion in Berlin

Saturday, 22 February 2014
7:00pm

Robert Havemann Saal
Haus der Demokratie und Menschenrechte
Greifswalder Str. 4 | 10405 Berlin

Free admission

Three years after the revolts in the Arab world, the dominant narrative describes the region in extremes. Reflecting on these uprisings and the years following them, we must reassess their political, economic and cultural meanings. What contexts allowed these situations to evolve? How will the fluctuating power of political actors determine the future of their respective countries? What does the success and failure of the Muslim Brotherhood mean for Egypt and the region? Two speakers will discuss these central questions in a panel discussion.

Speakers:

Dr. Ahmed Badawi
co-executive director, Transform: Centre for Conflict Analysis, Political Development and World Society Research

Dr. Sarah Eltantawi
Harvard, EUME fellow, Forum Transregionale Studien

Moderation:

Ingy Salama
PhD candidate, Freie Universität Berlin

With musical performance by harp-player Mariam Fathy.

Coordinators: Kim Cornett | Amina Rayan

Mayadin al-Tahrir e.V.
Greifswalder Str. 4
10405 Berlin
(+49) 030 23365303
info@mayadinaltahrir.org
www.mayadinaltahrir.org

Forum
Transregionale
Studien
EUME
Europa im Nahen Osten
Der Nahe Osten in Europa

Haus der Demokratie und Menschenrechte

ميادين التحرير
MAYADIN AL-TAHRIR

